Watched from a certain angle, the affairs and business of daily life resemble a game which migh: be called, "PENALTIES."

Those players who are most alert, most adept, who have sharpest wits, rarely pay a "penalty;" while the careless players are constantly "paying up."

There are no set rules in the game of "Penalties." It is a mere matter of "blundering and paying the

Take the case of the man who buys a horse-knowing little about horses, and less about what they should cost, he pays about twenty-five dollars more than he would have needed to pay for the animal. He never read the ads. of people who had horses to sell, and, in effect, his $25 penalty paid for this neglect.

Another man owns a house, and rents it to the first inquirer who has sought him out since he put up the placard. He is not quite satisfied with the man's responsibility, and is a liittle reluctant about knocking off a few dollars from the already low rent-but there is no other tenant "in sight," and he accepts the doubtful one. His "penalty" is the eventual loss of two months' rent income, the cost of re-papering the house, and of making many repairs-all of which he could have avoided by spending a dollar or two in the first place for "To Let" ads., which would have placed prospective tenants IN COMPETITION for his house, and would have enabled him to "take his choice."

The housewife blunders into "paying penalties" by asking her neighbor's servant to secure a servant for her-some "friend of hers." She gets a "breaker," and for most of the month watches the gradual destruction of china and despoiling of household "pretty things." She pays her "penalties" because she gave herself no room for CHOICE in selecting a servantvirtually delegating the selection to someone else. A "Help Want" ad", run for a few days, would have changed the affair from that of a place hunting the servant to that of a lot of servants hunting the placewhich is a very different thing.

The person who works for too small wages, who pays too high rent, who "gives away" things which have a market value, or that could have been exchanged for more useful articles—that person is always a loser in the game of "Penalties," and wholly because he doesn't realize the nature of the game.
